

Bio:

I'm Tracey R. Bryant a Sensual Empowerment Coach, certified Yoni Steam Practitioner, Feminine Health and Wellness Educator, and Womb Advocate. I received my training and certification from the YONI Steam Institute in Atlanta, Georgia. I gained tools and knowledge on how to heal my own womb from soul and generational trauma. It changed my life forever.

I received my Bachelor's Degree from McNeese State University in Sociology and Human Sexuality, and I have a license in Social Work. I am a certified Natural Health and Wellness Consultant, and received my certification from A Life Of Peace Institute. It allowed me to understand how important nutrition is in the role of healing from the inside out, and using herbs and food as natural medicine.

I love all things feminine and sensual and I believe that feminine wellness and creativity resides in the healing and balance of the Divine Feminine, "The Womb." I chose to incorporate womb wellness as a spiritual career path due to my personal experience with childhood sexual abuse, and as a result of searching out my own personal healing, and experiences I understand the transformative power of SELF LOVE, and spirit.

I am a Rape Crisis, and Domestic Violence Volunteer, Counselor and Advocate, and AIDS/HIV Pre Test – Post Test Counselor and Outreach Educator.
